The Nationals wound up the series with the Athletics yesterday afternoon in a blaze of glory, defeating the Quakers in the most approved style by the score of 4 to 1. The day was gloomy and raw, but warm sunshine could not have brightened up the Back of the pitchers, the fielding was fine, notwithstanding the three misplays. Perrine made a wild throw to first, Anderson let a roller get away from him and Davis made a muff of a throw squarely into his hands. The two first basemens' errors were not costly, but Perrine's high heave let in Philadelphia's only run. The hero of the afternoon, outside of Hughes, was young Robert Ganley. Bob yanked off three singles out of four times at the bat and in the field he worked nicely, a wonderful throw to the plate in the fourth inning, shutting off a run. Schlafly played a superb second base, accepting all of his eleven chances and was happy over the fact that he broke his batting spell f hard luck by lining out a clean single. Little Topsy Hartsel was the bright particular star of the Athletics, with Schreck running him a close second. In the sixth inning Topsy, captured a fly hit into short left by Schlafly, getting the ball on the dead run about six inches from the ground. was an exact copy of the play made by Ganley in Wednesday's battle. The Quakers got away well in the first inning, scoring one run, and it looked like a walk over for them. Hartsel hit a fast grounder to Perrine that the latter picked up cleanly, but in his hurry to head off the fast sprinting Quaker he threw about six feet over Anderson's head. The ball struck the stand and bounded back so quickly that Hartsel had to return to the first sack. Monte Cross then laid down a neat sacrifice and Hartsel galloped to secend. Seybold laced a line single into right and Hartsel rushed home. After that there was nothing doing in the run scoring line for the visitors. Hughes commenced speed-ing them over and in five of the remaining eight innings the Athletics had only three men to the bat an inning.

visitors looked dangerous in the fourth, as Davis had singled with one out and Murphy placed him on third with a double to right. Schreck followed with a fly to right that Ganley gathered in nicely and then by a superb throw to Warner killed Davis at the plate. Had the ball been handed to Warner it couldn't have

The Nationals took kindly to Dender from the start, getting a hit in the first inning and two in the second, but had not been able to score until the fourth, when they clouted the ball savagely and pushed two runs over the plate. In that inning Al-tizer opened with a fly to Hartsel and sat down, while Jones was more lucky, getting a base on balls. Perrine singled to center and Warner followed with a terrific double along the right field foul sline. Jones dashed home on the hit and Perrine pulled up at third. Hughes then hit to Bender and Perrine was put out at the plate. Ganley sent a nice single into right Warner came home. Schreck made a fine catch of Schlafly's fly and the inning Manager Cantillon's boys came right more runs. Lave Cross tore off a nice double into left field, the ball rolling just inside the foul line Big Anderson then whipped a beauty bright around into right field and by the time the ball was returned he was perceed on third and Cross, of course, had scored. Altizer's best was foul to Schreck, but Jones binged a long fly to Lord and Anderson came home. Waddell pitched the sixth and seventh inings and Vickers the eighth. It was announced last night that the Departmental League will be out in uniform this season, this bit of news developing when it was an assured fact that the Interior Department would be represented. The schedule will probably be a short one. The teams will get under way about May 15 and conclude the season about July 15, in which time forty games are expected to be played. The south diamond of the White Lot ellipse has been secured, and the teams will be out each evening to get a little practice before they are called on to race for the pennant. The Interior team will have its first practice Saturday after-noon at 4:45. Every ball player employed in the department is urgently requested to report. C. G. "Team work in base ball is a joke," said Bill Bradley of the Cleveland club last winter. Hugh Jennings of the Detroit club differed from the great third baseman, and now Detroit, with an ordinary lot of players, has it on the haphazard but won-derful aggregation collected under the banner of Cleveland.

The recent attempt of the New York Americans to score runners from second and third on the squeeze prompts a Chicagoan to observe that the play is not new, that Maloney, then of the Chicagos, scored from second on a bunt in 1905. Without pausing to explain that a bunt does not pausing to explain that a bunt does not necessarily mean a squeeze, it may be pointed out that the play of bringing in two men on a squeeze was worked by Yale against Princeton in the early nineties. There were men on second and third and both came in on the play—which is at least twelve years old and maybe older.

WON AT JAMAICA

NEW YORK, May 8.-After an absence of nearly two years from the turf H. P. Whitney's famous mare Tanya started in the third event at Jamaica yesterday, a handicap at six furlongs. It was a public trial for the Metropolitan handicap, and the daughter of Meddler-Handspun was sent to the post in apparently tiptop shape. She picked up 126 pounds and was backed from 5 down to 2, but just after the start Koerner got her into a pocket and had to pull up sharply. Tanya lost much ground because of this mishap, but she soon got a chance to show her speed and ran a very creditable race. But at no time did she have a chance to beat the Brown-leigh Park Stable's star three-year-old Sewell, 8 to 5 favorite, who broke in front, showed a world of speed and was Just galloping all the way down the stretch, with a margin of three lengths over Tanya, who conceded nine pounds by the scale to the speedy Cesarion colt. #### LOTUS EATER EQUALED TRACK RECORD

BALTIMORE, Md., May 8.-Carrying 117

pounds Lotus Eater, the crack performer of the Barbarity stable, trained by R. J. Walden, equaled the track record in the Merchants' handicap, the feature at Pimlico yesterday. The big brown horse by Galore negotiated the distance in 1.401/2, a mark that was established by Welborne, with ninety-seven pounds up, at the last fall meeting of the Maryland Jockey Club. Lotus Eater was the odds-on favorite at 3 to 5. There were six starters, and there was a strong tip that Solon Shingle was a good investment. This was false as Solon Shingle, as the second choice in preezed to the front at the head of the betting, did not run his race, finishing in the rut. Racine II, Mr. Stewart Diffenderffer's Racine gelding, ran a clever race, beating out Cobmosa for the place handily under Hennessy's effort in the stretch. under Hennessy's effort in the stretch.

The real feature of the sport was the disqualification of the favorite, John Lee, in the closing event, that at four furlongs. Hennessy, who had the mount on John Lee, put the horse over by a half-length to the good of Emma G., the heavily played second choice, but it was only after a lot of rough work on the choice. It was a palpable foul Director. choice. It was a palpable foul. Diggins, who rode Emma G., made a protest after finishing the race, and the stewards called Hennessy in the stand. After hearing the evidence the stewards had the number Emma, G.'s posted instead. Many of the players of Emma G. had torn up their tickets, but many managed to get the places together and swung into the cashing line.

A big upset was sprung in the steeple-chase when Bowser scored with Benlala at 80 to 1.

JOCKEY RADTKE'S NARROW ESCAPE

NEW YORK, May 3.—Following the ac-cident to Jockey Miller, which will keep him out of the saddle until the Belmont Park meeting, came another mishap at Jamaica yesterday, which caused Jockey Herman Radtke to be laid up for repairs too. It was only by a miracle that Radtke was not killed outright. He had the mount on the Columbia stable's Ben Cole in the first race. The colt was such a hot favorite that he was backed down to 9 to 10. He seemed to be winning when he turned into the stretch, but opposite the field stand he faltered and both Rifle Range and Cuernavaca, who came up on the outside quickly passed him. Ben Cole was close to the rail when suddenly he stepped in a hole, crossed his legs and went down. Radtke was hurled out of the saddle with great force. He turned a complete som-ersault in the air, landed on his head and then rolled over and over. He was con-scious and threw up his hands to protect himself as Foremost came upon him with a rush. The colt's forefeet just grazed Radtke's head, and the boy, stricken with fear, then hobbled off the track to the in-field, where he fell flat upon his face. The ambulance was driven in a hurry from the paddock, while the crowd was shocked by the accident, which looked like a fatality. Radtke, covered with blood, was lifted into the vehicle and was carried to the jockey's room. Just as he was getting the jockey's room. Just as he was getting out the folding ambulance seat used by the surgeon fell upon the boy's head and knocked him over backward. Radtke seemed to be all right after a while, in spite of a bad cut over the bridge of his nose and a lacerated shoulder. The physician said that no bones were broken, but that

There have been so many accidents at Jamaica during this meeting that some of the trainers have decided not to race over the course again. It is also said that the jock-eys are in constant fear of being injured. If there is any way to enlarge the track, horsemen say, the Metropolitan Jockey
